ABSTRACT

Information is provided on the academic performance of Missouri community college students who transferred to the University of Missouri, Columbia (UMC), for the fall 1979 semester. The data are organized according to the college from which students transferred, the UMC department which they entered, student transfer grade point average (GPA) and UMC GPA, and the number of semester hours transferred to UMC. The bulk of the report consists of tables which cover: (1) academic entry patterns, i.e., the number of students entering an academic unit and the proportion entering with an associate degree; (2) the number of students earning a GPA of at least 3.00 at UMC; (3) admission status, graduation, and retention data on students from each of 20 unidentified colleges; (4) transfer GPA and UMC GPA; (5) GPA by transfer hours category and by college; (6) GPA's of students transferring into each of 11 colleges or departments by community college of origin; (7) number and proportion of students completing graduation requirements at UMC within four semesters of transferring; and (8) transfer GPA and UMC GPA for four semesters between fall 1979 and winter 1981. These data reveal that 288 students transferred to UMC from a community college in fall 1979, and 63 of these students had an associate degree. By winter 1981, 176 of these students were still enrolled. (HB)

THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI-COLUMBIA 1982 COMMUNITY COLLEGE STUDY

for the

1982 COMMUNITY COLLEGE TRANSITION CONFERENCE

TITLE: The Academic Performance of Missouri Community College Transfer Students at the University of Missouri-Columbia.

RESEARCHER: Keener A. Tippin, Ed.D., Assistant Director of Admissions (UMC)

PURPOSE: To ascertain the academic performance of Missouri Community College transfer students at the Univeristy of Missouri-Columbia.

POPULATION: The population of this study was composed of Missouri Community College students who transferred to the University of Missouri-Columbia. The sample of this population was community college students who transferred to the University of Missouri-Columbia and enrolled for the 1979 fall semester. The students in this sample were assigned to one of five groups, based on the number of semester hours transferred to the University of Missouri-Columbia. Group One was composed of students who earned between one and seventeen hours; Group Two was composed of students who had earned between eighteen and thirty-two hours; Group Three was composed of students who had earned between thirty-three and forty-seven hours; Group Four was composed of students who had earned forty-eight or more hours; and Group Five was composed of students who had earned the Associate Degree.

METHOD: The Grade Point Average (GPA) of each student was re-calculated using only college transfer courses and eliminating developmental, physical education, and/or military science courses.

The data pertaining to Grade Point Average were reported in means, and those data pertaining to academic entry, retention, and completing of graduation requirements were reported in percentages.

ASSUMPTIONS:

1. Semester grades were obtained from the student's official transcript as a valid indicator of the student's academic accomplishment.

2. Students chosen as subjects earned at least a grade point average of 2.000 (C) prior to transferring to the University of MIssouri-Columbia.

LIMITATIONS:

1. This study was limited to students who were admitted and who subsequently enrolled at the University of Missouri-Columbia.

2. This study was limited to the investigation of Missouri Community College transfer students who enrolled at the University of Missouri-Columbia for the 1979 Fall semester.

DEFINITION OF TERMS:

1. Academic Dismissal and Suspension: Depending on the Academic Division in which they are enrolled, students are dismissed or suspended if their semester grade point averages are 1.0 or below, or if they fail half or more of their programs. When suspended, students are generally eligible to re-enroll in that Academic Unit after two semesters. Dismissal is of a permanent nature and students are not eligible to re-enroll in the Academic Unit from which they were suspended.

2. Academic Performance: A student's achievement, as described herein, includes only his/her scholastic record in terms of grades recorded upon his/her official report card.

3. Admissions Policy: The established procedure followed in admitting students.

4. Attrition: Term used to note students who are suspended or dismissed from the University of Missouri-Columbia for academic reason.

5. Committee on Entrance and Revision of Records: This committee acts as an agent of the faculty on cases of admission referred by the Director of Admissions and receives and acts upon petitions by students for revision in entries concering grades and credits entered upon the official record card.

6. Grade: A rating or evaluation of a student's achievement.

7. Grade Point Average (GPA): A measure of average scholastic performance obtained by dividing the total number of grade points earned by the total number of hours of course work attempted.

8. Retention: Continuous registration beginning with the 1979 Fall Semester through the 1981 Winter Semester.

INSTITUTIONS STUDIED:

The data used in this study were compiled on students transferring from Missouri Community Colleges. Each community college that had one or more students to transfer to the University of Missouri-Columbia for the 1979 Fall semester was included in this study.

FINDINGS:

The findings in this study were reported for each community college represented in the study. Each community college was assigned a letter of the alphabet and the admissions office staff can identify the college's alphabetical identification upon request of an administrator or faculty member. (Please note that the letters of the alphabet were assigned randomly).

Academic Entry Patterns: The data in Table I represent the academic school or college in which students in the sample enrolled for the 1979 fall semester. The results are reported in percentages.

TABLE I. ACADEMIC ENTRY PATTERNS

Totals	288	99.89	63	(99.95%)

Report on Retention: Retention in this study is defined as continuous registration beginning with the 1979 fall semester through the 1981 winter semester. The data presented in Table II reflect the retention of the 1979 sample.

TABLE II. RETENTION

	1980 Winter	1980 Fall	1981 Winter	Cumulative

Report of transfer students who earned a Grade Point Average of at least 3.000 (B): The data in Table III reflect the number of studnets who earned a grade point average (GPA) of at least B. At UMC, a student's GPA is obtained by dividing the total number of grade points by the total number of hours of course work attempted.

TABLE III. STUDENTS WHO EARNED A GPA OF AT LEAST A 3.000 (B)

Number of students enrolled	288	238	201	176

Admission Status, Graduation, and Retention: The data in table IV represent the number of students transferring from each community college and follows their enrollment for four semesters. The data also show the number of students from each community college with fifty or more transfer hours, and/or the Associate Degree, and those completing requirements for the Bachelor Degree within four semesters.
